SUGGESTED CITATION

U.S. Bureau of the Census, Statistical Abstract of the United States: 1966. (87th edition.) Washington, D.C., 1966.

PREFACE

The Statistical Abstract of the United States, published annually since 1878, is the standard summary of statistics on the social, political, and economic organization of the United States. It is designed to serve as a convenient volume for statistical reference and as a guide to other statistical publications and sources. The latter function is served by the introductory text to each section, the source notes appearing below each table, the Guide to Sources, the section on Publications of Recent Censuses, and the Guide to State Statistical Abstracts.

This volume includes a selection of data from many statistical publications, both governmental and private. Publications cited as sources usually contain additional statistical detail and more comprehensive discussions of definitions and concepts than can be presented here. Data not available in publications issued by the contributing agency but obtained from the agency's unpublished tabulations and records are identified in the source notes as "unpublished data." More information on the subjects covered in tables so noted may generally be obtained from the contributing agency.

Except as otherwise indicated, figures are for the United States as presently constituted. Although emphasis in the Statistical Abstract is given primarily to national data, many tables present data for regions and individual States. Statistics for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and for outlying areas of the United States are included in the State tables whenever available and are supplemented by information in section 32. Statistics for cities or other relatively small geographic units appear only in a few instances. Additional information for cities, counties, metropolitan areas, congressional districts, and other small units, as well as more historical data, are available in various supplements to the Abstract. (See pages V and VI).

Changes in the 1966 edition.—This edition, the 87th annual issue, presents data for the most recent year or period available during the early part of 1966.

Each year the more than 1,300 tables and charts are reviewed and evaluated. New tables and charts of current interest are added, continuing series are brought up to date, and less timely data are curtailed or eliminated. Text notes are revised as necessary to incorporate new definitions and source references. The text for section 3, Immigration and Naturalization, was substantially revised this year to take account of the new preference system for immigrants covered by the immigration act that became effective in December 1965. Likewise, the text for section 10, Social Insurance and Welfare Services, was revised to cover new legislation effective in July 1966 providing protection against costs of medical care in old age.

Newly released information contained in this edition includes data on employment, taxable payrolls, and reporting units under the Social Security Act, abstracted from County Business Patterns, 1964 (tables 682-685); data from the 1963 Census of Commercial Fisheries (tables 1023 and 1024); and data from the 1963 Censuses of Business, Manufactures, and Transportation (tables 826, 834, 1206, and 1219) supplementing those presented in the 1965 edition. New tables on subjects of particular current interest include more data on the Negro population than were available previously (tables 23, 155, 324, and 476); data on museums and symphony orchestras (tables 299 and 300); and data on sports not previously covered (table 298). More data are also included on automobiles and on motor-vehicle accidents (tables 822, 823, and 828-830).

Altogether, there are 66 entirely new tables in this edition, scattered through 21 of its 33 sections. In addition to the tables specified above, significant inclusions in various sections are 5 new tables on crime and law enforcement in section 5; 2 on military forces in section 9; 11 new tables on social welfare in section 10; and 7 new tables on research and development in section 20.
